Eisenhower and his backers.

CHICAGO, April 22.—Illinois Republican leaders, backed by a fresh mandate from voters who favor Senator Robert A. Taft as the GOP nominee, are beginning to get rough with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and his backers.

Since the general announcement that he is going to pull a Wendell Willkie on his party by not campaigning for the nomination prior to the July convention here, some professional politicians who had one foot on the Ike bandwagon have withdrawn it and are walking on both legs back to Taft's headquarters again.

Werner Schroeder, Republican National Committeeman for Illinois, was the first prominent GOP politician in this state to announce his disapproval of the general's contemplated policy of returning to the U. S. by June 1 but staying silent on national issues until he is handed the convention nomination—if it is handed to him.

Schroeder charged that Eisenhower is distrustful of his own position and that his silence will indicate he feels he isn't as strong back home as some of his supporters tell him. Others in the GOP hierarchy in the state express the same views, but more strongly. There are two good reasons why the Illinois Republicans feel the way they do.

The first is that any and all Republicans are expected to do their bit in trying to trim the Democrats in 1952. Ike's declaration of silence places him on a political pedestal that he has erected himself. He is saying, according to politicians here, that he is above getting down on the mat and wrestling with the Democrats on vital national issues; that he is going to leave the grubby work of politics to underlings within the party who should be willing to do the spadework irrespective of the party's nominee. If he behaves this way during the campaign for the nomination, how will he do in the race against a Democratic nominee if he is nominated?

This is especially galling to Taft supporters who have been accused of playing too rough. Taft has pulled few punches in challenging Ike, Stassen and Warren on party issues. Pro-Eisenhower Republicans and Democrats alike have deplored Taft's actions and have talked darkly about irreparable damage to the party.

Taft has stated repeatedly that he will support the party nominee in the event he fails to win here in Chicago in July. His backers now are claiming that they are entitled to the same pledge from Eisenhower. However, they admit privately they do not expect to get it.

"If he won't fight for the nomination before the convention how can we expect him to fight for someone else if he doesn't get the nomination?" is the $64 question being asked by Illinois GOP professionals today.

The second major reason Ike's assertion of silence disturbs Illinois Republicans is that they were burned by a Willkie convention blitz and have no desire for another Willkie-type campaign.

In Illinois, as a result of the Willkie nomination, the party was torn apart. Willkie lost the state while a Republican candidate for the governorship carried it with ease, and the reason he lost it is that his nomination left professional politicians out in the cold. They had no incentive to work for him, since his backers, largely from New York state, would have nothing to do with midwest party leaders.

Unless Eisenhower speaks out on controversial issues he will be unable to collect the hard core of party support here that he needs. The Willkie candidacy scared the wits out of leaders here, since they never knew where he stood on any given issue on any given day. They want no more of this silliness and are saying so with increasing acerbity.

What it all boils down to is this. GOP leaders in this state are willing to listen to Eisenhower—in fact, are anxious to hear him. They do not discount his capabilities as a speaker, nor do they discount his popularity as a military leader, but they insist that unless he speaks out on public issues in a manner that creates enthusiasm among rank and file party members, he should not be considered for the nomination.

WATER AUTHORITY FOR MORRISVILLECouncil Authorizes Drafting of the Necessary Ordinance*VOTE WAS 4 TO 1

MORRISVILLE, Apr. 22.—Last evening, Borough Council approved a motion authorizing the drafting of an ordinance that would turn over the Borough's water system to a Municipal Authority. The vote was 4 to 1.

Harry J. Kendall, the councilman who cast the dissenting vote, requested clarification of the action by having it include "the borough filtering works, also the new well and the distribution system." Authority of the motion was Councilman Theodore H. Evans.

Borough engineers stated that the present filtering plant has a capacity of 900,000 gallons per day.

The engineers have estimated it will cost $50,000 to renovate the plant so it will provide 600,000 gallons more per day. A projected well, equipped with an iron-removing process, would cost about $96,000 and provide another 1,000,000 gallons per day.

P. T. A. GAME PROGRAM

Members of Laurel Bend Parent-Teacher Association will meet Thursday evening in Laurel Bend school at eight p. m. Games will be played during the social hour.

DO YOUR DUTY: VOTE!

All citizens owe it to themselves and to their country to go to the polls today and express their preference—that is, all except those who are registered "non-partisan" and are therefore not entitled to vote in the Pennsylvania primaries.

There is no such thing as an "unimportant election." The right of voting is the cornerstone of American free government, and that system of liberty is under attack today as never before in our national history.

Republicans and Democrats alike ought not to let the polls close tonight without putting their sentiments on record.

On the Republican side, most urgent part of today's election deals with the national issues and with the possibility of electing a Republican president next fall.

On the ballot are two able and courageous Republican leaders in the long battle which has been going on at Washington to save Constitutional government and to give the American people one more chance, this year, to retreat from Truman socialism.

They are U. S. Senator Edward Martin and Congressman Karl C. King, Mr. King, nationally known mass-production farmer, is Bucks county's first congressman in nearly twenty years. Senator Martin, former Governor, distinguished war hero, has been an outstanding Republican figure for years, and has risen in the Senate to a position of leadership and importance.

Both these men merit the support of all loyal Republicans. Also deserving wholehearted Republican backing is John C. Arnold, Republican member of the Superior Court who is seeking nomination to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

Clip this following notation, and take it with you to the polls to remind yourself of these three important votes to cast:

EDWARD MARTIN	X
Representative in Congress
KARL C. KING	X
Judge of the Supreme Court
JOHN C. ARNOLD	X

TOWN MEETING HERE IS EAGERLY AWAITEDThe Chamber of Commerce Makes Statement On Planned Session*"A PUBLIC SERVICE"

Dr. Roy Cleaver, advisor on consolidation and transportation from the Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg, will speak tomorrow in a town meeting on the subject of consolidation of Bristol Borough and Bristol Township schools as opposed to individual school systems. A capacity crowd is expected at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow evening, the time of the forum.

A statement from the Chamber of Commerce reads:

"Due to the tremendous demand upon the Bristol Chamber of Commerce from both the township and borough residents, the Board of Directors of the Bristol Chamber of Commerce voted to comply, as a public service feature of its structure, to sponsor such a meeting.

"Indicative of the requests to the Chamber for such a meeting was a lack of knowledge by the general public of facts and figures as to the advisability of jointure as opposed to non-jointure of the schools in the immediate area.

"A spokesman for the Chamber said, 'We cannot reiterate strongly enough that the Chamber of Commerce is not taking sides on the matter. We have arranged this open meeting so that the residents can hear and discuss the pros and cons of consolidation in this area from an expert on the subject.'

"Due to the short notice as to the availability of Dr. Cleaver for such a meeting, letters of invitation were mailed to various organizations by special delivery mail. Those receiving a cordial invitation to attend Continued on Page Four

Clean Up—Paint Up—Fix Up

Some people probably think of a clean up movement as something that results in a more beautiful and attractive community. It does have that effect, and a fine thing it is, too. A clean and good looking city does for its citizens what a new hat does for a woman, or a new suit for a man. It is better because it looks better.

The values of a thorough round of cleaning, painting and fixing, however, have far more than surface application. The scope and manner of the annual drive here contribute tremendously to the establishment and maintenance of good health and comfort. Cleanliness makes for the eradication of mosquitoes, rats and all sorts of pests an menace that thrive on rubbish and untidiness.

Certainly, too, Bristol's energy and efficiency in cleaning up make a big contribution to our ability to prevent fires. Bristol has a splendid record in fire prevention efforts, and the clean up fits right into that scheme of things. It will take a lot of doing to improve on what has been done before, but that has been true every year for a long time. We hope every man, woman and child will determine now to play a part in one of the most useful undertakings of our civic year. CLEAN UP—PAINT UP—FIX UP!

CLAIM NO CHANGE IN THE TURNPIKE EXTENSION ROUTEDevelopment of Steel Plant Near Florence, N. J., Not to Affect Such*COMMISSION CLAIMS*Conference This Week To Confer Design of High Level Bridge

HARRISBURG, Apr. 22.—(INS)—No change in the routing of the King of Prussia-Edgely extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike is contemplated because of development of a steel plant near Florence, N. J.

A Commission spokesman said engineers are "sticking" to the original line which was approved by resolution sanctioned by the State Highways Department and Gov. John S. Fine.

A conference of officials from the Pennsylvania and New Jersey Turnpike Commissions, scheduled to be held late this week, will be concerned with design and structure of the high level bridge to carry the express route across the Delaware River in the vicinity of Edgely and Florence, he reported.

Approaches to the bridge will be longer than usual because they will conform to a Turnpike rule that no grade shall exceed three per cent, according to the spokesman.

Contracts on the 33-mile extension is expected to be awarded "by the latter part of this year," the spokesman added.

FLORENCE, N. J., Apr. 22.—This area is agog with rumors as to the possibility of location of a large industry here. Some of the reports say it is to be a steel plant. Efforts to get any definite information from an authoritative source have been fruitless.

Men seeking options on tracts of land in the area between Stevens Station and Cedar Lane road here, a distance of about three miles, and from the River road to Route 25, have met with some success, according to reports. At first, these real estate men visited the farms, attempting to get options, but met with rebuff.

It is further stated that when some land-owners realized that the turnpike extension would probably "hit" in this section, they were more willing to give options on their land. Now, it is said that most of the farmers have given options or have sold. No one can learn anything definite.

According to a number of individuals who are fairly familiar with the situation as it appears on the surface, "it looks as if whoever is buying the land will have sufficient acreage and influence to possibly cause change in the turnpike extension route."

The farms sold range from 75 acres up to those of 200 and 300 and more, it is reported.

Thy sins be forgiven. — Mark 2:5.

With these words, a load was rolled away from the spirits and bodies of the afflicted. Jesus knew that a sense of guilt or a feeling of remorse creates inner conflicts which breed disease. He knew, too, that the acceptance of the divine forgiveness of a loving God alone could relieve these subconscious tensions and restore health.

A noted American physician once remarked: "Most people do not need medicine half as much as a good dose of old-fashioned conversion." What he meant was that when men unload the debris of greed, bitterness, hatred, anxiety, and lust from their lives and learn to trust a forgiving and merciful God, they find a healing tonic of great potency. Many a person has been helped along the road to physical, mental, and spiritual well-being by the simple technique of receiving the forgiveness of God, by accepting Jesus Christ as a personal Savior, and in turn granting forgiveness to others.

DELHAAS HIGH DROPS SECOND GAME IN ROW

Delhaas High dropped its second straight Lower Bucks County League game yesterday as it bowed to Neshaminy High, 10-2, on the Bristol Township field.

As in the game with Council Rock, errors again helped the Delhaas team to go down to defeat. Neshaminy bunched nine hits with the 10 Delhaas errors to score their markers, six coming in the sixth frame.

LaPenta went the distance for Neshaminy, limiting the Delhaas boys to five hits. One of the blows was a triple by Bob Morris in the final canto. Morris scored both of the Delhaas tallies.

Officers of the league have announced that the Junior Drum and Bugle Corps of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion Posts will take part in the flag-raising ceremonies on opening day.

Dismisses A Charge Against House Owner

word premises followed between Fitzcharles and John P. Fullam, attorney for the complainants, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Settino, Steele avenue, West Bristol.

Tritschler over-ruled the objection, and from the bulk of the testimony and cross-examination of the three witnesses, Mr. and Mrs. Settino and Suchanko, several facts emerged undisputed. One such fact was that Suchanko was the builder and the owner of the house. He built the house to sell and not to rent and he put the property into the hands of agents for sale. The Settinos moved into the house on Feb. 16th of this year. Mr. Settino is a veteran and he had applied for Veterans Administration approval of the house. Three weeks later the approval was turned down and Settino's down payment was then returned. A month went by and on April 3rd, a letter was sent to Settino, requesting that they leave. No action was taken by either party for another two weeks. Settino, it was claimed, has not compensated in any way for living in the house since he moved in with his family.

There was some verbal jousting between the attorneys, concerning the matter of rent. Suchanko requested in the neighborhood of $90 a month for the house. Settino, according to testimony, was willing to pay a fair rental. The house had not been registered with the Rent Control Office.

On Saturday evening, between 10 and 10:30, while the Settinos were watching a television program, Suchanko, accompanied by his wife, walked into the house without knocking, it is claimed. It was stated he proceeded to remove Settino's venetian blinds and drapes from the door, took out the pins, and walked off with the front door. Suchanko stated that he needed the door for another house in Croydon, but at the present time it has not been used. Suchanko testified that this action was not an attempt to drive the Settinos from the house. He has, he added, taken legal steps to evict them.

There was some testimony and cross-examination that substantiated that Suchanko did not harm the door. Settino testified that he did not protest Suchanko's action, because "it was his house and it would not do me any good to hit him. That's probably what he wanted me to do."

Tritschler heard all of the evidence and dismissed the case. He warned Suchanko never to do anything like that again. He said: "You (Suchanko) will have this on your conscience for some time."

Meanwhile, the Settinos are living in a home with the doorway boarded up. Written on the outside in white paint is the plea, "We want our door back." This is in violation of the Bristol Township Building Code and Fire Code and it was stated at last night's hearing that steps are being taken to recover the door.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1952,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

CHICAGO, April 22.—Illinois Republican leaders, backed by a fresh mandate from voters who favor Senator Robert A. Taft as the GOP nominee, are beginning to get rough with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and his backers.

Since the general announced that he is going to pull a Wendell Willkie on his party by not campaigning for the nomination prior to the July convention here, some professional politicians who had one foot on the Ike bandwagon have withdrawn it and are walking on both legs back to Taft's headquarters again.

Werner Schroeder, Republican National Committeeman for Illinois, was the first prominent GOP politician in this state to announce his disapproval of the general's contemplated policy of returning to the U. S. by June 1 but staying silent on national issues until he is handed the convention nomination—if it is handed to him.

Schroeder charged that Eisenhower is distrustful of his own position and that his silence will indicate he feels he isn't as strong back home as some of his supporters tell him. Others in the GOP hierarchy in the state express the same views, but more strongly. There are two good reasons why the Illinois Republicans feel the way they do.

The first is that any and all Republicans are expected to do their bit in trying to trim the Democrats in 1952. Ike's declaration of silence places him on a political pedestal that he has erected himself. He is saying, according to politicians here, that he is above getting down on the mat and wrestling with the Democrats on vital national issues; that he is going to leave the grubby work of politics to underlings within the party who should be willing to do the spade work irrespective of the party's nominee. If he believes this way during the campaign for the nomination, how will he do in the race against a Democratic nominee if he is nominated?

This is especially galling to Taft supporters who have been accused of playing too rough. Taft has pulled few punches in challenging Ike, Stassen and Warren on party issues. Pro-Eisenhower Republicans and Democrats alike have deplored Taft's actions and have talked darkly about irreparable damage to the party.

Taft has stated repeatedly that he will support the party nominee in the event he fails to win here in Chicago in July. His backers now are claiming that they are entitled to the same pledge from Eisenhower. However, they admit privately they do not expect to get it.

"If he won't fight for the nomination before the convention how can we expect him to fight for someone else if he doesn't get the nomination?" is the $64 question being asked by Illinois GOP professionals today.

The second major reason Ike's assertion of silence disturbs Illinois Republicans is that they were burned by a Willkie convention blitz and have no desire for another Willkie-type campaign.

In Illinois, as a result of the Willkie nomination, the party was torn apart. Willkie lost the state while a Republican candidate for the governorship carried it with ease, and the reason he lost it is that his nomination left professional politicians out in the cold. They had no incentive to work for him, since his backers, largely from New York state, would have nothing to do with midwest party leaders.

Unless Eisenhower speaks out on controversial issues he will be unable to collect the hard core of party support here that he needs. The Willkie candidacy scared the wits out of leaders here, since they never knew where he stood on any given issue on any given day. They want no more of this silliness and are saying so with increasing acerbity.

What it all boils down to is this, GOP leaders in this state are willing to listen to Eisenhower—in fact, are anxious to hear him. They do not discount his capabilities as a speaker, nor do they discount his popularity as a military leader, but they insist that unless he speaks out on public issues in a manner that creates enthusiasm among rank and file party members, he should not be considered for the nomination.

Artificial Respiration Proves Unsuccessful and Death Pronounced

The body of Hezekiah Singley, 403 Jefferson avenue, Bristol, was recovered from the Delaware Division of the Pennsylvania Canal, at about eight o'clock this morning. The body was recovered by Bristol units of the Interstate Marine Association.

The work of applying artificial respiration began immediately, but was unsuccessful. Rescue workers said that it was evident that Singley had been in the water for a number of hours as the body was rigid when brought to the surface.

Singley made his home at the Jefferson avenue address with his sister, Laura Belle. He was a weaver.

Dr. Vincent E. Romano pronounced Singley dead and Bucks County Deputy Coroner, Dr. William L. Goldfarb, viewed the body. Continued on Page Three

WATER AUTHORITY FOR MORRISVILLE

Council Authorizes Drafting of the Necessary Ordinance

VOTE WAS 4 TO 1

MORRISVILLE, Apr. 22.—Last evening, Borough Council approved a motion authorizing the drafting of an ordinance that would turn over the Borough's water system to a Municipal Authority. The vote was 4 to 1.

Harry J. Kendall, the councilman who cast the dissenting vote, requested clarification of the action by having it include "the borough filtering works, also the new well and the distribution system." Authority of the motion was Councilman Theodore H. Evans.

Borough engineers stated that the present filtering plant has a capacity of 900,000 gallons per day. The engineers have estimated it will cost $50,000 to renovate the plant so it will provide 600,000 gallons more per day. A projected well, equipped with an iron-removing process, would cost about $96,000 and provide another 1,000,000 gallons per day.

DO YOUR DUTY: VOTE!

All citizens owe it to themselves and to their country to go to the polls today and express their preference—that is, all except those who are registered "non-partisan" and are therefore not entitled to vote in the Pennsylvania primaries.

There is no such thing as an "unimportant election." The right of voting is the cornerstone of American free government, and that system of liberty is under attack today as never before in our national history.

Republicans and Democrats alike ought not to let the polls close tonight without putting their sentiments on record.

On the Republican side, most urgent part of today's election deals with the national issues and with the possibility of electing a Republican president next fall.

On the ballot are two able and courageous Republican leaders in the long battle which has been going on at Washington to save Constitutional government and to give the American people one more chance, this year, to retreat from Truman socialism.

They are U. S. Senator Edward Martin and Congressman Karl C. King, Mr. King, nationally known mass-production farmer, is Bucks county's first congressman in nearly twenty years. Senator Martin, former Governor, distinguished war hero, has been an outstanding Republican figure for years, and has risen in the Senate to a position of leadership and importance.

Both these men merit the support of all loyal Republicans. Also deserving wholehearted Republican backing is John C. Arnold, Republican member of the Superior Court who is seeking nomination to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

Clip this following notation, and take it with you to the polls to remind yourself of these three important votes to cast:

EDWARD MARTIN	X
Representative in Congress
KARL C. KING	X
Judge of the Supreme Court

TOWN MEETING HERE IS EAGERLY AWAITED

The Chamber of Commerce Makes Statement On Planned Session

"A PUBLIC SERVICE"

Dr. Roy Cleaver, advisor on consolidation and transportation from the Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg, will speak tomorrow in a town meeting on the subject of consolidation of Bristol Borough and Bristol Township schools as opposed to individual school systems. A capacity crowd is expected at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow evening, the time of the forum.

A statement from the Chamber of Commerce reads: "Due to the tremendous demand upon the Bristol Chamber of Commerce from both the township and borough residents, the Board of Directors of the Bristol Chamber of Commerce voted to comply, as a public service feature of its structure, to sponsor such a meeting."

"Indicative of the requests to the Chamber for such a meeting was a lack of knowledge by the general public of facts and figures as to the advisability of jointure as opposed to non-jointure of the schools in the immediate area."

"A spokesman for the Chamber said, 'We cannot reiterate strongly enough that the Chamber of Commerce is not taking sides on the matter. We have arranged this open meeting so that the residents can hear and discuss the pros and cons of consolidation in this area from an expert on the subject.'"

"Due to the short notice as to the availability of Dr. Cleaver for such a meeting, letters of invitation were mailed to various organizations by special delivery mail. Those receiving a cordial invitation to attend."

Clean Up—Paint Up—Fix Up

Some people probably think of a clean up movement as something that results in a more beautiful and attractive community. It does have that effect, and a fine thing it is, too. A clean and good looking city does for its citizens what a new suit does for a woman, or a new suit for a man. It is better because it looks better.

The values of a thorough round of cleaning, painting and fixing, however, have far more than surface application. The scope and manner of the annual drive here contribute tremendously to the establishment and maintenance of good health and comfort. Cleanliness makes for the eradication of mosquitoes, rats and all sorts of pests an menace that thrive on rubbish and untidiness.

Certainly, too, Bristol's energy and efficiency in cleaning up make a big contribution to our ability to prevent fires. Bristol has a splendid record in fire prevention efforts, and the clean up fits right into that scheme of things. It will take a lot of doing to improve on what has been done before, but that has been true every year for a long time. We hope every man, woman and child will determine now to play a part in one of the most useful undertakings of our civic year.

CLEAN UP—PAINT UP—FIX UP!

NAVY CLOSES THE GAP
There has been a great deal of concern in the U. S. air transport industry over the commanding lead the British have piled up by getting jet-powered passenger liners in operation. Within a few weeks regular flights will start plying between London and Cape-town, South Africa. The first American all-jet passenger plane will not be flying until 1957.
The reasons for this wide gap are too numerous for discussion here and they are more or less irrelevant. For it appears that a research project the Navy has been conducting on the quiet may change the picture considerably.

At the behest of the Navy, Lockheed Aircraft has under construction a pair of long range, high speed transport planes powered by turbo-prop engines. The Navy is interested because it seeks means of moving Marine Corps shock troops and other "fireman" units great distances by air at high speeds.

In the turbo-prop engine a propeller is geared to a turbine motor which closely resembles the one in a pure jet engine. The turbo-prop is less of a fuel hog than a jet, but it uses more than the piston engines now in use in conventional airliners.

Lockheed, in cooperation with the Navy, is introducing a new design wrinkle by adding huge wing tip tanks—a familiar feature on jet fighter planes, but something new in large plane construction. Apparently the streamlined tanks not only serve as fuel storage but add to the lift and strength factors of the wing.

There appear to be few bugs in the basic design of the planes. Lockheed has been test flying a transport equipped with most of the new features for months. According to naval sources, the airlines with overseas routes are following the project with more than usual interest.

Turbo-prop are the transition step from piston engines to all-jet flight, so it appears that the Navy's research will have significant defense and commercial implications.

THE FLOODS CAME

When the Missouri started to overrun its banks near its source in Montana two weeks ago, there were no indications of the proportions this watery holocaust would attain. Today city after city has been inundated, millions of acres of farm land has been flooded, a hundred thousand persons have been driven from their homes.

The flood damage, enormity of which grows daily, extends for 1,500 miles along the Big Muddy. Thousands of buildings have been wrecked, businesses have been ruined financially.
Now that the Mississippi River, the Red River, and many smaller streams have poured over their banks, there is widespread apprehension that this may develop into one of the nation's greatest national disasters.

DELHAAS HIGH DROPS SECOND GAME IN ROW

Delhaas High dropped its second straight Lower Bucks County League game yesterday as it bowed to Neshaminy High, 10-2, on the Bristol Township field.

As in the game with Council Rock, errors again helped the Delhaas team to go down to defeat. Neshaminy bunched nine hits with the 10 Delhaas errors to score their markers, six coming in the sixth frame.

LaPenta went the distance for Neshaminy, limiting the Delhaas boys to five hits. One of the blows was a triple by Bob Morris in the final canto. Morris scored both of the Delhaas tallies.

DOUGHERTY TO HEAD UMPIRE COMMITTEE

Officials of the Bristol Boys League have appointed John E. Dougherty as chairman of the circuit's umpiring and scoring committee. The local boys' loop will open its season on May 17th on Leedom's field.

Dougherty has secured four umpires thus far — Jesse Vanzant, Ralph Cahall, Bert Barbetta, and Charles Klein. There are still several openings for umpires and anyone interested in officiating the games can secure further information by phoning Dougherty at Bristol 9028.

Officers of the league have announced that the Junior Drum and Bugle Corps of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion Posts will take part in the flag-raising ceremonies on opening day.

word premises followed between Fitzcharles and John P. Fulam, attorney for the complainants, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Settino, Steele avenue, West Bristol.

Trichter over-ruled the objection, and from the bulk of the testimony and cross-examination of the three witnesses, Mr. and Mrs. Settino and Suchanko, several facts emerged undisputed. One such fact was that Suchanko was the builder and the owner of the house. He built the house to sell and not to rent and he put the property into the hands of agents for sale. The Settinos moved into the house on Feb. 16th of this year. Mr. Settino is a veteran and he had applied for Veterans Administration approval of the house. Three weeks later the approval was turned down and Settino's down payment was then returned. A month went by and on April 3rd, a letter was sent to Settino, requesting that they leave. No action was taken by either party for another two weeks. Settino, it was claimed, has not compensated in any way for living in the house since he moved in with his family.

There was some verbal jousting between the attorneys, concerning the matter of rent. Suchanko requested in the neighborhood of $90 a month for the house. Settino, according to testimony, was willing to pay a fair rental. The house had not been registered with the Rent Control Office.

On Saturday evening, between 10 and 10.30, while the Settinos were watching a television program, Suchanko, accompanied by his wife, walked into the house without knocking. It is claimed. It was stated he proceeded to remove Settino's venetian blinds and drapes from the door, took out the pins, and walked off with the front door. Suchanko stated that he needed the door for another house in Croydon, but at the present time it has not been used. Suchanko testified that this action was not an attempt to drive the Settinos from the house. He has, he added, taken legal steps to evict them.

There was some testimony and cross-examination that substantiated that Suchanko did not harm the door. Settino testified that he did not protest Suchanko's action, because "it was his house and it would not do me any good to hit him. That's probably what he wanted me to do."

Trichter heard all of the evidence and dismissed the case. He warned Suchanko never to do anything like that again. He said: "You (Suchanko) will have this on your conscience for some time."

Meanwhile, the Settinos are living in a home with the doorway boarded up. Written on the outside in white paint is the plea, "We want our door back." This is in violation of the Bristol Township Building Code and Fire Code and it was stated at last night's hearing that steps are being taken to recover the door.
